

When adopting guidelines for Telemarketing No Call Policy, please allow states that have enacted stricter guidelines than the FCC is proposing to retain their own laws. In Indiana, consumers such as we, have been pleased with the No Call Policy that was adopted in our state and do not wish to change it. We do not pledge donations or conduct business with telemarketers. With a disabled person in the home, it is potentially dangerous to try to answer all the unwanted phone calls. Elderly people who have been brought up to be polite find it difficult to say no to callers. It is distressing to have to be rude. In addition, there is no way to separate the legitimate telemarketers from the illegitimate. The FCC is being irresponsible in not providing protection to consumers from unsolicited phone calls.
